Trinity Methodist church is the mother of Methodist churches in the city. This building is situated on the north-east corner of Broad and Twentieth streets, fronting on Broad. It is a handsome brick cliffice, painted a drab or lead color, and surmounted with an imposing and lofty steeple. Stone steps lead up from the pavenient to the church-yard, which latter is hald with brick, and ranges from nearly lovel with the street at its eastern terminus, to six feet or more at the ex-

This innovation was a wonderful thing, and soon he found a wondering from life curiosity, and in keeping with that morbid taste for the sensational, that even now characterizes people. But the Gospel soon attracted with greater power than curiosity, and many were converted in the old State House.

OLD TRINITY.

Lyell now bent all his energies towards securing a church building, and before the end of the year a neat and commodous house was completed and opened at the corner of Nineteenth and Franklin streets. While we do not find any name in connection with the church we note that the one succeeding it is called "New Trinity," and the presumption is that Trinity was the name of the first church, and that the next building in point of time, and known as "New Trinity," was built by this congregation, which moved their quarters accordingly. This first mentioned building (129), was the first property in Zion," under the bless-ings of "God over all."

Consignments of considerable bulk are being shipped by produce commission merchants of this city, and while prices are down, sales have been quite active.

The over-yield of green pippins produced by Albemarie and Augusta growers, is being shipped to England where there is a demand for this delicious apple. The price paid for the fruit is less than for many years. Nearly all other fruit coming to the Richmond market is quoted at figures considerably below the usual standard.

Grapes are cheaper this season than usual, and there is a fair demand for them. Concord grapes have been shipped here in large quantities.

A superabundance of cabbage has kept the market glutted, and the prices small. As many as a dozen car-leads of cabbage have been noticed lying side-tracked nere. Other vegetables have been shipped here in large quantities, and there has been no scarcity of butter or poultry.

How to Estimate Trolley-Car Speed.

There is in the public mind a confusion of ideas as to the speed of electric street cars. Two inexpert observers guessing at this speed will rarely come within miles of the correct estimate. Yet it is possible for anybody, by a simple calculation, to arrive at very nearly accurate information. An electric car going at the rate tion. At three miles an hour the distance travelled in a minute is three times tance travelled in a minute is three times 88, or 234 feet. This distance of 264 feet is about the length of an average city block. If it takes a car a minute to go a block, the rate of speed is three miles an hour. The combination sale of trotting, road, and saddle horses held in this city by W. J. Carter & Co., en October 24th, 25th, and 28th, was quite successful, and for the class of stock offered & 71 crises were realized. In most instances consignors and buyers were alike pleased. The attendance was good and when destrable offerings were put up bidding was spiritied. Col. G. P. Hawes secured a bargain in the handsome brown saddle-mare Pet, by Red Squirred, as did Mr. S. H. Ford, fell to the bid of W. H. Cole, which soes to show that buyers are on the alert when a well-bred, meritorious animal is put up. When it came to a different class of horses small figures ruled, as, for instance, a decrepit brood mare, past twenty years of ance brought $2; another brood mare of uncertain are and breeding brought $80. I learn from Mr. James Cox, the master of Belgravia Stock Farm, that his horses are all doing nicely. He is located at New Market Va., in the beautiful Shenandouh valley, and has at the head of his stad the bay stallion Kelly, six years old, a full brother to last season's great threeyear-old filly Expressive, 2:12-1-2, by Electioneer, out of Esther, thoroughbred daughter of Express. Kelly gave promise of making a great horse early this season in the hands of Thomas Settle, but went wrong. Settle drove him an eighth in 14 seconds and a quarter in 31 seconds.

Mr. Cox will have the son of Electioneer handled grain next season. Among the mares bred to him this season was Catherine Leyburn, 2:14, by Belview, 2:20-1-4, son of Belmont and Lady Shamons, by Volunteer, is also kept for service at Belgravia. He is a bay horse of commanding form and elegant finish, and if trained would trot fast. With seventeen days' handling and with Mr. Cox, who is an amateur, in the sulky, the bay stallion trotted a mile in 2:23-1-2. Among the brood mares at Belgravia are Minnie Montrose, Robert McGregor, dam by Mambrino Chief; Ruby McGregor, by Robert McGregor, dam by Mambrino Patchen; Ora, by St. Gothard, dam by Usamon; Aconite, by Trechout, dam by Woodhawn, and Nellie Scott, by Lord Russell, dam by Sam Purdy. Poplin, a bay yearling filly, by Kelly, out of Ruby McGregor, is highly prized by Mr. Cox, and she will not lack for opportunities in the school of development.
